I grew up in Rosario, Pasig City, raised by a father whose hard work in shoe repair kept our family going through tough times. Living on a day-to-day basis wasn't easy, but growing up poor taught me resilience, resourcefulness, and the true value of every opportunity. Faith and strong religious values were at the heart of our household, giving us hope and grounding us no matter how difficult things got. Inspired by my family's sacrifices, I dedicated myself to my studies and proudly maintained consistent honors throughout senior high school.

When it comes to food, nothing beats classic Filipino comfort dishes for me, my absolute favorites are adobo and sinigang. To top off any good meal, I always go for chocolate in any shape or form whenever I want something sweet.

ABOUT ME

FOOD GOALS

My ultimate goal in life is to become a successful IT graduate so I can provide for my father and give him everything he wants in return for his sacrifices. Looking to the future, I dream of living abroad, building a healthy family, and being truly rich. ,t just in money, but in happiness and peace of mind.
